MOREHEAD, Ky.---A "Celebration of Appalachian Women," their transitions and accomplishments, will be the focus of a daylong symposium during Morehead State University's Appalachian Celebration '91.

Slated for Monday, June 24, the third annual Women's Symposium opens with a noon luncheon at the Adron Doran University Center with Dr. Judy Rogers, MSU's dean of undergraduate programs, as keynote speaker.

The afternoon sessions include:

"Changing Roles: Answering the Voice Within," with Dr. Mary Pauline Fox, director of the Pike County Health Department, and Dr. Alice M. Zollicoffer, psychologist with the Lexington Rape Crisis Center;

"Modern Pioneers: Early 20th Century Women Reformers," with Rhonda England, instructor at Alice Lloyd College, and Dr. Nancy Forderhase, an English faculty member at Eastern Kentucky University;

"Politics of Empowerment: Not of the Male Stream," with Harlan County Judge/Executive Delzinna Belcher; Linda Gayheart, executive director of the Kentucky River Area Development District; Hilda G. Legg, alternate federal co-chair of the Appalachian Regional Commission, and Phyllis Mattingly of Versailles, an attorney;

"Appalachian Health Care: Candles in the Darkness," with Eula Hall of the Mudd Creek Clinic; Freda Kilburn, MSU assistant professor of nursing; Wenda Owen, executive director of Mountain Maternal Health, and Deanna S. Severance, director of Frontier Nursing Services.

(MORE)

"Changing Roles" and "Modern Pioneers" will run concurrently from 2 to 2:50 p.m, while the "Politics of Empowerment" and "Appalachian Health Care" are set for 3 p.m.

"We are fortunate to be able to bring together these exceptional women to share their insights as we celebrate the Appalachian woman," said Donna Reynolds-Spangler, coordinator for the Appalachian Celebration.

There is a June 17 deadline for the women's symposium. The registration fee, which includes lunch, is $15.

The Morehead Woman's Club, the Morehead Business and Professional Woman's Club and the Citizens Bank will co-sponsor a reception for the participants at the Morehead Holiday Inn, beginning at 5 p.m.

Rounding out the day will be a concert by the Reel World String Band at 8 p.m. in Breckinridge Auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door at $5 per person.

MSU's 15th annual Appalachian Celebration, under way the week of June 23-29, will feature a variety of events "celebrating" the traditions, heritage and crafts of the mountains.

Additional information on the symposium or other celebration events is available by calling the coordinator at (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Cellist Suzanne Barber Veiga of Lexington will present a guest recital at Morehead State University on Monday, May 13, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

The performance, which is free and open to the public, will include works by Boccherini, Bach, Strauss and Ginastera.

Active as an orchestral player, chamber musician and solo recitalist, she is currently in her sixth season with the Lexington Philharmonic. She also has been a cellist with the Orquesta Sinfonica Municipal de Caracas in Venezuela and the South Bend (Ind.) Symphony Orchestra.

A doctoral fellow and teaching assistant at the University of Kentucky, Veiga has studied with some of the world's finest cellists, including Paul Katz of the Cleveland Quartet. In 1989 she was a featured soloist with UK's Symphony Orchestra, performing the premiere of David Ott's Concerto and Two Celli and Orchestra.

She received her bachelor's degree from the Eastman School of Music and a master's degree from UK.

Accompanying Veiga will be pianist Leslie Petteys, a member of the music faculty at Marshall University. She has been invited to perform in masters classes for Philippe Bianconi, Gilbert Kalish, Byron Janis, Elly Ameling and Dalton Baldwin.

Nationally recognized for her work in American music and interest in women composers, Dr. Petteys has appeared as a solo recitalist and chamber musician throughout the Midwest and Western states and was featured on National Public Radio. In 1989 she made her New York debut at the College University of New York Graduate Center where she gave a lecture recital, "Piano Music by Women Composers."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Thursday, May 9, at the Morehead Holiday Inn from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Morehead forum is the first of six scheduled throughout the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

"The Morehead forum also provides an excellent opportunity for the various segments of the campus--faculty, staff and students--to present their opinions," said Dr. Alban Wheeler, MSU's faculty regent and the committee's vice chairman.

Those attending will have an opportunity to present their comments either verbally or in writing. Refreshments will be available.

Prior to the public forum, the search committee will meet at 3 p.m. to discuss other matters. That session also will be open to the public. Other forums will be held in the region as follows:

Hazard, May 13 at the Hazard Community College; Ashland, May 16 at the Ashland Community College; Prestonsburg, May 20 at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn; Maysville, May 21 at the Maysville Community College, and Mt. Sterling, May 23 at Montgomery County High School.

The committee has set an Oct. 4 deadline for applications and nominations and plans to submit a list of six candidates to the Board of Regents by mid-December. Dr. Grote's successor is expected to be named by the board in early March and will begin work July 1, 1992.

In addition to Martin and Dr. Wheeler, the committee members include William Cofield and Charles D. Wheeler, regents. Also on the committee by virtue of their positions are student regent Chris Hart or his successor; Ted Coakley, MSU Alumni Association president; Dr. Robert Lindahl, Faculty Senate chair, and Teresia Parker, Staff Congress chair. Mrs. Madge Walters Baird of Pikeville serves as a citizen-at-large.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Individual Events (IE) speech team closed out its season in eighth place nationally at the National Forensic Association's National Tournament held at Marshall University, April 25-29.

MSU competed against 122 other schools in the competition, according to Jan Caldwell, assistant professor of speech and team coach.

Earlier this spring, the MSU team took the first place spot in the IE sweepstakes competition of the Kentucky Forensic Association's state tournament for the 15th consecutive year.

"Morehead State University can be proud of this team which has carried on the long tradition of excellence," said MSU President C. Nelson Grote. "This achievement is the result of the dedication and hard work of the students and their coaches."

MSU has ranked in the top 10 nationally nine times since 1977, Caldwell said, noting that the competition is stiffer at the national level making winning more prestigious.

In addition to team ranking, several students advanced to the quarter and semifinal rounds. They were:

Larry Coy, Shepherdsville sophomore, prose and after dinner speaking, quarter finals.

Amy Darnell, Lebanon, Ohio, freshman, after dinner speaking, quarter finals.

April Erdmann, Eldorado, Ohio, sophomore, after dinner speaking, quarter finals.

Kellie Crump, Cynthiana senior, informative speaking, quarter finals;

Rachel Craft, Morehead sophomore, prose, quarter and semifinals.

Other students competing in the tournament and contributing to the sweepstakes points were:

The team ended the 1990-91 season with a total of 213 awards and was ranked 10th in the nation at the end of the 1989-90 year.

HAZARD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Monday, May 13, at Hazard Community College from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Hazard forum is the second of six scheduled throughout the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

"These regional forums provide an excellent opportunity for the University's various publics to offer their ideas on what special skills we should incorporate into the criteria for Dr. Grote's successor," said Dr. Alban Wheeler, MSU's faculty regent and the committee's vice chairman.

Those attending will have an opportunity to present their comments either verbally or in writing. Refreshments will be available.

Other forums will be held in the region as follows:

Ashland, May 16 at the Ashland Community College; Prestonsburg, May 20 at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn; Maysville, May 21 at the Maysville Community College; and Mt. Sterling, May 23 at Montgomery County High School.

The committee has set an Oct. 4 deadline for applications and nominations and plans to submit a list of six candidates to the Board of Regents by mid-December. Dr. Grote's successor is expected to be named by the board in early March and will begin work July 1, 1992.

In addition to Martin and Dr. Wheeler, the committee members include William Cofield and Charles D. Wheeler, regents. Also on the committee by virtue of their positions are student regent Chris Hart or his successor; Ted Coakley, MSU Alumni Association president; Dr. Robert Lindahl, Faculty Senate chair, and Teresia Parker, Staff Congress chair. Mrs. Madge Walters Baird of Pikeville serves as a citizen-at-large.

BRITISH EDUCATION EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Morehead State University and representatives of Sunderland (England) Polytechnic Institute recently formalized an agreement which not only allows for student exchanges between the two schools, but also faculty as well. The program currently is geared to teacher education students, but others are not excluded. This spring two MSU students did their student teaching in Sunderland, while SPI sent three students to do practicums. On hand as MSU President C. Nelson Grote signed the British Education Exchange Program agreement were Dr. Yvonne S. Smith, seated at left, dean of SPI's School of Education, and, standing from left, Dr. Hillery Constable, director of teacher education research at SPI; Dr. Sylvester Kohut Jr., dean of MSU's College of Education and Behavioral Sciences, and Shirley Blair, MSU's director of student teaching.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Michael Seelig, coordinator of Morehead State University's Social Work Program, has been elected president of the campus chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

Also elected to the executive committee were Jack Henson, assistant professor of business education, vice president; Helen Williams, librarian IV and instructor of information sciences, secretary; Dr. Tim Miller, associate professor of education, treasurer; Dr. Wayne Morella, associate professor of industrial education, membership chair and Dr. Diane Ris, professor of education, and Gaye Osborne, assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation, at-large members.

Seelig, an associate professor and faculty member since 1983, said that work would begin this summer on revising the chapter constitution, increasing membership, and conforming committees to those at the state and national levels.

Building an agenda of issues to be addressed during the upcoming academic year and establishing a new type of working relationship with the University administration, Faculty Senate and the Faculty Rights and Responsibilities Committee also will be under taken this summer.

"I have little doubt that we will become recognized on campus as both an advocate for faculty rights and a mediator of faculty concerns," Seelig said.

The new officers terms will run for two years.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A teacher who promotes critical thinking skills and an educator whose research focuses on the legal issues of controversial social and economic policies were selected by their colleagues to receive Morehead State University's most prestigious faculty awards.

Dr. George M. Luckey Jr., professor of philosophy, received the Distinguished Teacher Award for 1990-91, which was established in 1964 by the MSU Alumni Association.

Dr. William C. Green, associate professor of government, was presented the 1990-91 Distinguished Researcher Award, sponsored by the MSU Research and Creative Productions Committee and given annually since 1979.

The awards were announced at the University's seventh annual Academic Awards Convocation held Sunday, May 5, in Button Auditorium. The event launched a weeklong campuswide tribute to scholastic achievement.

A member of the faculty since 1961, Dr. Luckey has consistently been ranked as an "excellent instructor" by students. In addition to his teaching duties, last fall he became director of the Academic Honors Program and has been serving as faculty coordinator for MSU's Faculty/Staff Professional Development Program.

Active in the critical thinking movement at national, regional and local levels, Dr. Luckey utilizes critical thinking in his classroom as a teaching tool, drawing upon analogies and examples to clarify the ideas presented in his lectures. He also employs the collaborative learning approach emphasizing group discussions. Dr. Luckey is a member of several professional organizations, including the American and Kentucky Philosophical Associations.

Since 1981, Dr. Luckey has presented papers or conducted workshop sessions at more than 38 meetings throughout the United States. He also has written or had funded several grant proposals of his work.

A native of Paris, Tenn., he received his B.A. degree from Murray State University, the M.A. degree from the University of Kentucky and doctorate from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale.

Dr. Green, who joined the faculty in 1984, has conducted extensive research into such issues as obscenity, child pornography, capital punishment, abortion, contraceptive drugs, energy, environmental regulation, economic development and labor relations.

A political scientist, Dr. Green holds both a Ph.D. degree from the State University of New York-Buffalo and a J.D. degree from the University of Kentucky, where he also is a research associate with the Institute for Mining and Minerals Research. He received his B.A. degree cum laude from Kent State University.

He has published two books, "The Politics of Industrial Recruitment" and "The Unfulfilled Promise of Synthetic Fuels," and is currently working on two others with his co-editor Ernest Yarnella. Other works include three book chapters, nine journal articles, four research reports and a wide range of editorials, book reviews and numerous papers published in professional meeting proceedings.

The recipient of several research grants, he is a member of several organizations including the American Political Science Association and the Association for Politics and the Life Sciences.

Also announced at the convocation was the winner of the fourth A. Frank Gallaher Memorial Music Performance Competition, Jeffrey Schmidt, Nicholasville junior. The award includes a $1,000 cash prize and the privilege of performing at the convocation. Schmidt studies saxophone with Eugene C. Norden and David L. Anderson, MSU assistant professors of music.

The student speaker was Darrell W. Sandfoss of Alexandria, who will receive his bachelor degree with honors on May 18. Majoring in mathematics with an area of concentration in computer programming and minoring in philosophy, Sandfoss has been in MSU's Academic Honors Program since his freshman year.

Outstanding graduate and graduate students from the various academic departments also were honored during the convocation.

Named as recipients of Outstanding Graduate Student Awards by their departments were: Edward T. Lundergan of Ripley, Ohio, Agriculture and Natural Resources; Anita Colder of Quincy, Art; David M. Blevins of Romulus, Mich., Biological and Environmental Sciences; Robin Adams of Ashland, Business Administration; Lori M. RE: Kentucky Educational Reform: Nongraded Primary Schools

As you know, the state's public school systems are required to implement a nongraded primary system by fall 1992. As an outreach service to school systems in this region, Morehead State University, in conjunction with the Nongraded Primary School Staff Development Project and the state Department of Education, will host a series of presentations on "Nongraded Primary Schools" on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 14-15, featuring two educators who have considerable experience with such systems.

Marlene Dergousoff, coordinator of the primary program, Ministry of Education, British Columbia, will be the speaker on Tuesday, May 14. Dr. Lillian Katz, professor of early childhood education at the University of Illinois and columnist for Parents Magazine, will speak on Wednesday, May 14.

Sessions begin at 9 a.m. in Adron Doran University Center both days and the presentations will be recapped each evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

This could be an excellent opportunity to provide some indepth reporting on this facet of the Education Reform Act to your readers/viewers. If I or my staff can assist you with your coverage, please do not hesitate to call (606) 783-2030.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASHLAND, Ky.--Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Thursday, May 16, at Ashland Community College from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Ashland forum is the third of six scheduled throughout the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

"These regional forums provide an excellent opportunity for the University's various publics to offer their ideas on what special skills we should incorporate into the criteria for Dr. Grote's successor," said Dr. Alban Wheeler, MSU's faculty regent and the committee's vice chairman.

Those attending will have an opportunity to present their comments either verbally or in writing. Refreshments will be available.

Prior to the public forum, the search committee will meet at 3 p.m. to discuss other matters. That session also will be open to the public.

Other forums will be held in the region as follows:

Prestonsburg, May 20 at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn; Maysville, May 21 at the Maysville Community College; and Mt. Sterling, May 23 at McNabb Middle School.

The committee has set an Oct. 4 deadline for applications and nominations and plans to submit a list of six candidates to the Board of Regents by mid-December. Dr. Grote's successor is expected to be named by the board in early March and will begin work July 1, 1992.

In addition to Martin and Dr. Wheeler, the committee members include William Cofield and Charles D. Wheeler, regents. Also on the committee by virtue of their positions are student regent Chris Hart or his successor; Ted Coakley, MSU Alumni Association president; Dr. Robert Lindahl, Faculty Senate chair, and Teresia Parker, Staff Congress chair. Mrs. Madge Walters Baird of Pikeville serves as a citizen-at-large.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A "Living Will Forum," produced by the Office of TV Productions at Morehead State University, will air at 4 p.m. Monday, May 13, over MSU-TV Channel 12, with a repeat scheduled at the same time on Tuesday, May 14.

Held in April under the auspices of the First Christian Church of Morehead, the forum featured a panel consisting of state Rep. Walter Blevins Jr.; Elizabeth Reffitt, a registered nurse; Dr. Ed Scott, Morehead physician, and Paul Blair, Morehead attorney.

The Rev. Harold Tackett moderated the discussion which included individual presentations by panelists and questions from the audience concerning legal, medical and ethical issues.

Tapes of the hour and 45-minute program may be obtained from TV Productions, Morehead State University, UPO 940, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. Telephone: (606) 783-2082. The charge for each tape is $17.

This special program will be followed on both days by a 30-minute feature, "Behind the Scenes of YO! M-TV Raps," filmed during the show's recent visit to MSU's campus. The MSU-TV show features backstage interviews with Dr. Dre and Ed Lover, co-hosts of "YO! M-TV Raps," and footage from the MSU performance.

POPS PICNIC PLEASURES: A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Amid picnic hampers packed with tempting goodies, tables festooned with crepe paper and other adornments, balloons of all sizes (including one 9-foot in diameter), nearly 260 people picnicked in Ellis T. Johnson Arena for a worthy cause. The event was the second annual "Picnic at the Pops" benefit, sponsored by the Rowan County Learning for Life Foundation. Dining on fare ranging from taco salad to pineapples filled with chicken salad, the revelers raised approximately $6,000, with $5,000 earmarked by the foundation for mini-grants to enhance the county's educational programs and to provide for special tutorial programs. Entertaining the crowd with a "pops" concert were Morehead State University's Symphony and Concert Bands. The evening's theme was "Up, Up and Away!"

Cutlines:

- 1---Balloons not basketballs were the order of the day in Johnson Arena as some 260 picnic-goers dined and enjoyed selections by MSU's Concert and Symphony bands. The over-sized American flag which dropped from the catwalks above the arena floor during "America, The Beautiful" brought oohs and aahs from the crowd.
- 2---"Mary Poppins" (alias Judy Cain of Morehead) prepares to partake of picnic fare. Winning the prize as the most original table based on the "Up, Up and Away" theme, it included seven other "Mary Poppins-es"--Janet Bignon, Paula Stokes, Pam Tiller, Eva Johnston, Sarah Chaney, Barbara Tackett, and Cheryl Fraley.
- 3---Attempting to hide from the roving photographer behind a luscious looking cupcake is little Alice Weaver, daughter of Dr. Anthony and Frances Weaver.
- 4---Giving Richard Miles, MSU's director of bands, a little competition is Susan Victor, who wowed the crowd as she conducted the band as it played Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." Maestra Victor held the winning ticket which carried the honor of guest conductor for this number.

RUSSELL HIGH SHOOOL STUDENTS SPEND 'DAY ON CAMPUS': A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 30 ninth grade students from Russell High School visited Morehead State University recently under the auspices of the Ashland Oil Inc. program, "A Day on Campus." Part of AOI's comprehensive effort to create an awareness of education's importance, the program is designed to encourage students to consider making college part of their educational goal and to begin preparing for it scholastically. The students toured campus, making special visits to the various academic departments, and talked with MSU students and administrators before returning to school. They were accompanied by their counselors Lois Neal and Janice Rice.

Cutlines:

- 1---The model riverboat, part of MSU's Folk Art Collection, found an admirer in Jody Smithers.
- 2---One of the more unusual pieces in the collection also turned out to be a real stopper. It caught the attention of, from left, Adam Lewis, Colby Chapman and Bobby Green.
- 3---Trisha Duty cautiously checks out some of the numerous specimen bottles lining the shelves of this science lab.
- 4---Intrigued by a display of animals that may be found in the area were Dora Morris, left, and Angel Sizemore as they toured the science museum in Lappin Hall.
- 5---Getting the chance to see what happens behind the scenes in a television studio from the production booth were, standing from left, JoAnn Lewis, Stacy Heaberlin, Megan Lawson and Michele Skeens. Seated at the console is Diane Estep.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--More than 100 artists and craftspeople will display and sell their handcrafted products at the culminating event of Morehead State University's 15th annual Appalachian Celebration--the annual Appalachian Arts and Crafts Market on Saturday, June 29, in Laughlin Health Building.

The market will be held from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Admission will be $1 for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

A variety of arts and crafts will be featured including basketry, painting, pottery, weaving, and woodwork. Traditional Appalachian food also will be available.

"Each year one of the most popular activities, the Arts and Crafts Market is the largest single event of Appalachian Celebration Week," said Georgia Sammons, coordinator of the market. "Approximately 4,000 people visit the market to browse, to enjoy, and to purchase quality Appalachian crafts," Sammons added.

The Appalachian Celebration '91, under way the week of June 23-29, will feature a variety of events celebrating the traditions, heritage, and crafts of the mountains.

Additional information on the market may be obtained by calling Sammons at MSU's Regional Development Services weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at (606) 783-2077 or toll-free in Kentucky at 1-800-262-7474.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The registration deadline for Morehead State University's Summer Arts Day Camp is May 24.

Offered by MSU's Academy of Arts, the weeklong camp is scheduled July 22-26. Youngsters six through 14 years of age are eligible to attend. Classes will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily and participants will need to bring a sack lunch each day.

This year's camp will focus primarily on the visual arts, according to Yvonne Baldwin, Academy director. The $70 registration fee includes all supplies.

Classes will be offered in oil painting, watercolor, fabric painting, printmaking, origami, ceramics, art history and crafts. In addition, sessions will be available in music, dance and theatre.

"The emphasis is on creativity and imagination, but the program is designed to give students a basic understanding of the principles involved as well," explained Baldwin.

Registration applications must be accompanied by a $20 deposit toward tuition. Additional information on the Arts Day Camp is available by calling the Academy at (606) 783-2659.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.----A healer, community leader and ardent supporter of public education, Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot of Morehead will receive the honorary Doctor of Science degree from Morehead State University at the school's spring commencement on Saturday, May 18.

MSU President C. Nelson Grote will present the degree during the ceremonies slated for 1:30 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center. Approximately 650 undergraduate and graduate students are candidates for degrees, making this one of MSU's largest spring graduating class in recent years.

Dr. Proudfoot came to Morehead in 1963 as chief of surgery at St. Claire Medical Center and has been a key figure in its development from a community hospital into a major regional medical center.

A graduate of Harvard University and Harvard Medical School, he is a professor of surgery at the University of Kentucky, a member of the American College of Surgeons and president of Cave Run Clinic, a multi-specialty group medical practice. His influence on the region's quality of life extends beyond that of a physician as Dr. Proudfoot has worked to improve public education from the local to the national level.

Chairman of the Rowan County Board of Education since 1973, he has served as president of the Kentucky School Boards Association and as a member of the Kentucky School Building Authority. He has been a member of the partnership committee and nominating committee for leadership officers of the National School Board Association.

He is chairman of the board of directors of the Markey Cancer Center, was a developer of the Morehead National Bank and serves on its board, chairs the advisory board of the Northeast Kentucky Area Health Education Center, and is an elder at Faith Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Proudfoot has received numerous awards for his service to community organizations. He and his wife, Winifred, are the parents of four sons, three of whom are physicians.

"Loved and held in the highest esteem by those whose lives he has touched, Dr. Proudfoot has given so much of himself to this region through his work and through his extraordinary support of education," said Dr. Grote. "It is most appropriate for us to accord him this honor which he so richly deserves."

The student speaker will be Jeffrey Dean Newman of Otway, Ohio, who is graduating summa cum laude with a B.B.A. degree. A student in the College of Business, he is a finance major with a minor in military science. Also on commencement day, he will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserves and will begin officers basic training course at Fort Benjamin Harrison on July 14.

President of Gamma Beta Phi honor society, Newman was selected as the outstanding student in the Department of Accounting and Economics and in the Department of Military Science. A member of Scabbard and Blade military science honorary, he has served as a cadet captain, battalion S1.

Active in the Mt. Pigsah Christian Church, Newman participates in its visitation program, paying weekly visits to the Warren Ladies Home where he reads, sings and plays the guitar for the residents. He plans to wed MSU alumna Lisa Ann Neu of Bentonville, Ohio, in June. A graduate of West Union High School, Newman is the son of Carroll and Judy Newman.

Once degrees are awarded, Morehead State's newest graduates will be inducted into the Alumni Association by Ted Coakley, association president.

Dr. George M. Luckey Jr., professor of philosophy and the 1990-91 Distinguished Teacher, will serve as grand marshal with Alex Conyers, associate professor of finance, and Dr. Frances Helphinstine, professor of English, as faculty marshals.

Serving as student marshals will be Jennifer Gibbs of Campton and Chandra Loganathan of Morehead, Graduate and Extended Campus Programs; Jennifer Perkins of Lawrenceburg and James Ison of Morehead, College of Applied Sciences and Technology; Mary Twiss of Martin and Barbara Owens of Galloway, Ohio, College of Business; John Holbrook of Sandy Hook and Shannon Malone of Morehead, College of Education and Behavioral Sciences, and Sheree Jo Robinson of Morehead and Jerett Allen Gieseler of Morehead, College of Arts and Sciences.

A reception for graduates and their families, sponsored by the MSU Alumni Association, will be hosted by President and Mrs. Grote immediately following the ceremony.

Commencement activities will begin at 9 a.m. with the nursing program pinning ceremony in Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center. At 10 a.m. on the lawn of Button Auditorium, MSU's Army Reserve Officers Training Corps will commission five graduating seniors as second lieutenants.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---M-TV fans nationwide will get a look at Morehead State University next week (May 13-17) as scenes from the campus are featured on "Yo! M-TV Raps."

Earlier this month, the popular Music Television rap program's deejay co-hosts, Dr. Dre and Ed Lover, brought their show to MSU's Academic-Athletic Center, where they performed for MSU's student body.

Not only was the performance taped, but the deejay duo did standup spots at various campus locations, including outside the President's House, in front of Camden-Carroll Library and Jayne Stadium.

"Yo! M-TV Raps, one of M-TV's regular programming features, airs Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. (On Simmons Cable, M-TV is Channel 32.)

MSU was one of 11 stops on this season's "Yo! M-TV Raps" college tour and only one of five where the show was filmed for broadcast, according to Susette Redwine, University Center programs and special events coordinator.

Other stops included Eastern Kentucky University, Gettysburg (Pa.) College, Frostburg (Md.) State University, Framingham (Mass.) State College, Rutgers University and the University of Virginia. Previous tours included visits to Ohio State University and the University of Florida.

"It's our understanding the MSU will be highlighted all this week," said Redwine. "MSU was pleased to be a host site for the taping because we knew our campus in the springtime is just so pretty and we knew our students not only would enjoy the experience, but also would be proud of gaining national exposure," Redwine said.

PRESTONSBURG, Ky.---Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Monday, May 20, at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Prestonsburg forum is the fourth of six scheduled throughout the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

"These regional forums provide an excellent opportunity for the University's various publics to offer their ideas on what special skills we should incorporate into the criteria for Dr. Grote's successor," said Dr. Alban Wheeler, MSU's faculty regent and the committee's vice chairman.

Those attending will have an opportunity to present their comments either verbally or in writing. Refreshments will be available.

Other forums will be held in the region as follows:

Maysville, May 21 at the Maysville Community College and Mt. Sterling, May 23 at McNabb Middle School.

The committee has set an Oct. 4 deadline for applications and nominations and plans to submit a list of six candidates to the Board of Regents by mid-December. Dr. Grote's successor is expected to be named by the board in early March and will begin work July 1, 1992.

In addition to Martin and Dr. Wheeler, the committee members include William Cofield and Charles D. Wheeler, regents. Also on the committee by virtue of their positions are student regent Chris Hart or his successor; Ted Coakley, MSU Alumni Association president; Dr. Robert Lindahl, Faculty Senate chair, and Teresia Parker, Staff Congress chair. Mrs. Madge Walters Baird of Pikeville serves as a citizen-at-large.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAYSVILLE, Ky.--Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Tuesday, May 21, at Maysville Community College from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Maysville forum is the fifth of six scheduled throughout the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

"These regional forums provide an excellent opportunity for the University's various publics to offer their ideas on what special skills we should incorporate into the criteria for Dr. Grote's successor," said Dr. Alban Wheeler, MSU's faculty regent and the committee's vice chairman.

Those attending will have an opportunity to present their comments either verbally or in writing. Refreshments will be available.

The next regional forum will be on May 23 at McNabb Middle School in Mt. Sterling.

The committee has set an Oct. 4 deadline for applications and nominations and plans to submit a list of six candidates to the Board of Regents by mid-December. Dr. Grote's successor is expected to be named by the board in early March and will begin work July 1, 1992.

In addition to Martin and Dr. Wheeler, the committee members include William Cofield and Charles D. Wheeler, regents. Also on the committee by virtue of their positions are student regent Chris Hart or his successor; Ted Coakley, MSU Alumni Association president; Dr. Robert Lindahl, Faculty Senate chair, and Teresia Parker, Staff Congress chair. Mrs. Madge Walters Baird of Pikeville serves as a citizen-at-large.

MT. STERLING, Ky.---Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee will host a public forum on Thursday, May 23, at McNabb Middle School from 4:30 to 6 p.m. to gather views from area residents on desirable qualities in the University's next president.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, MSU's current president, announced last spring that he would retire when his contract expires on June 30, 1992.

The Mt. Sterling forum is the last of six conducted around the region by the committee with the MSU Alumni Association as host.

"Selection of the best qualified person to head MSU at this time is a very important task and we want--and need--as much public input as possible," said Wayne Martin, committee chairman.

"This committee is committed to conducting these forums where alumni, donors, parents, friends of MSU, school personnel, civic, business and government leaders may express their views on the selection of Morehead State's 12th president," Martin added.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Workshops focusing on the traditions and skills of Appalachian people will be among the highlights of Morehead State University's 15th annual Appalachian Celebration scheduled June 23-29.

"Workshops have always been an important part of the Appalachian Celebration," said Donna Reynolds-Spangler, celebration coordinator. "This year, we have planned different workshops to appeal to a wide variety of people."

Workshops will be held in the following area:

Dulcimer Construction and Instruction -- Build your own dulcimer and learn to play. Instructor: Rodi Jackson. CONSTRUCTION: Lloyd Cassity Building, Room 215, June 24, 1:30-4:30 p.m.. INSTRUCTION: Baird Music Hall, Room 203, June 25-28, 1:30-2:30 p.m. Fee: $75.

Dulcimer Instruction (Aeolian Mode) -- Learn to play your dulcimer in Aeolian; used when singing the old traditional ballads from England, Ireland, and Scotland. Instructor: Gerry Gray. Baird Music Hall, Room 203, June 26-28, 1:30-3:30 p.m. Fee: $25.

Investigating Local and Family History -- Learn techniques to search local or family history. Instructor: Joe Nickells. Camden-Carroll Library, 5th floor, June 26, 6-7:30 p.m. Fee: None.

Preserving Family History -- Learn to protect and preserve family papers, Bibles, photographs and textiles. Instructor: Clara Keyes. Camden-Carroll Library, 5th floor, June 25, 6-7:30 p.m. Fee: None.

Because class sizes are limited, those interested in the workshops are encouraged to pre-register as soon as possible. The pre-registration deadline is June 17. Additional information on the workshops is available by calling MSU's Regional Development Services at (606) 783-2542, 783-2077, or toll-free in Kentucky at 1-800-262-7474.

The Appalachian Celebration is a weeklong tribute to the traditions, heritage, and crafts of the mountains, featuring numerous events and displays/demonstrations.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Department of Elementary, Reading and Special Education will offer three special summer instructional programs for elementary and middle school children in reading, math, language arts and social studies.

Enrollment for the programs is under way now.

The sessions will be conducted by upperclassmen and graduate students enrolled in MSU's College of Education and Behavioral Sciences. Many of the graduate students are certified teachers.

"The instruction will focus on areas of difficulty for the public school students, but also will be helpful to students who are achieving at a high level and wish an opportunity for indepth study in a particular area," said Dr. Paul McGhee, department chair. "The instruction program for each student will be adjusted to the student's level," he added.

During the week of June 24-28, instruction will be offered in math for students entering grades 1-8, language arts for students entering grades 5-8, social studies for students entering grades 1-5, and reading for students entering grades 1-8. The second session will be held July 22-26, and will offer instruction in reading for students entering grades 1-8.

A special three-week reading practicum will be offered in July for those students who need extensive help. Individual testing and instruction will be provided by graduate students.

There will be a $5 per student charge for instruction in each subject during the one-week sessions, but special rates may be arranged for those participating in more than one program. A separate charge is required for the reading practicum.

Parents are responsible for transporting their children to and from campus. Additional information is available by calling 783-2859.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Morehead State University Board of Regents has approved a $62.68 million operating budget for 1991-92 which reflects a 12.4 percent increase over last year's opening budget and is based on a projected 5 percent increase in enrollment.

Approval of the budget came at the boards' quarterly meeting Friday, May 17.

Intercollegiate athletic support from institutional funds will drop from the current 3.1 percent to 2.8 percent in the new year, while program revenues are expected to exceed the mandate set previously by the regents.

In May 1989, the board approved a resolution requiring that revenue generated by the athletic program must equal one-third of the annual athletic budget by 1991-92 and that institutional support may not exceed 3.6 of MSU's total educational and general budget.

The proposed intercollegiate athletics budget includes projected revenues of $950,000 or 41.8 percent of the total athletics budget.

Salary increases for most faculty will range from 6.33 percent to 8.49 percent with 7 percent being the average. The salaries of 16 faculty members who were promoted in rank will be adjusted at a higher percentage.

The average pay increase for MSU's hourly employees will be 10 percent, with increases ranging from 6.01 percent to 14.47 percent. The University's salaried staff members will see raises ranging from 6 percent to 14.20 percent, with the average being 8 percent.

Operating funds for Camden-Carroll Library received a boost with a 16 percent increase and funding for book and periodical acquisitions was increased by 33 percent.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Small Business Development Center will sponsor a special workshop for minorities considering starting a small business on Thursday, June 6, in the Butler Hall Conference Room on the campus.

The three-hour session will cover the reason businesses fail, loan procedures, and the pros and cons of buying an existing business or beginning a new one as it applies to minorities.

Registration will begin at 6 p.m., with the program to begin at 6:15 p.m. The cost is $8 which includes handout materials. Only 20 participants will be accepted and pre-registration is required before noon on the day of the session. Arrangements will be made for the handicapped when requested in advance.

The workshop is co-sponsored by MSU's College of Business, East Kentucky Small Business Development Center, the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development Small Business Division, Morehead/Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, and Mt. Sterling/Montgomery County Chamber of Commerce.

Additional information is available by calling SBDC at (606) 783-2895. The Small Business Development Center is administered through MSU's College of Business.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Inscape, Morehead State University's literary arts magazine, has announced the winners of its 1991 spring competition.

First and second prizes of $50 and $25 respectively were awarded at a recent Fine Arts Showcase where the student art works were presented and student writers read their poetry and fiction.

First place in poetry went to Lynn Wells, Sandy Hook sophomore, for "A Butterfly Lands on the Grace of My Friend." Second place went to Dusty Crum, Boonescamp senior, for "Dead Hair."

Receiving honorable mention for their poems were Frank Olson, Olive Hill graduate student; Leshia Hammons, Morehead junior; Robert Rial, Laura, Ohio, freshman, and Marta Tomes, Mt. Sterling sophomore.

Fiction winners were George Barnette, Louisville junior, first for "Remote Control" and Dolly Woods, Brooksville senior, second for "Mae."

In art, first place went to Liu Shan, Peoples Republic of China graduate student, for a monotype, "Sage," and second place to Kitty Wilson, Elliottville senior.

The award-winning works along with other student pieces will appear in the fall 1991 volume of Inscape, which is expected to be published in November. The spring issue is currently on sale at the University Bookstore.

Prize monies were made possible by the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy, the Academic Honors Program and the Department of Art.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---In the next century, today's minorities will become the majority and those students graduating now will be faced with an unparalleled level of cultural diversity.

That was the prediction of Morehead State University President C. Nelson Grote as he spoke at the institution's spring commencement Saturday, which drew more than 5,000 people, the largest crowd for graduation in the history of the school.

"Your most difficult challenge will be to adjust to this changing society," he said. The president then urged the graduates to "look for the likenesses, rather than differences; but where there is difference, value it."

The president also told his audience how MSU introduces its students to different cultures, both domestic and international, by its varied student body and faculty.

In addition to conferring degrees on nearly 650 undergraduate and graduate students, Dr. Grote also presented Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot of Morehead with the honorary Doctor of Science degree.

"In honoring me, you honor the whole area," said Dr. Proudfoot, who is recognized throughout the region not only as a physician, but also as a civic leader and ardent supporter of public education.

Student speaker Jeffrey Dean Newman urged his classmates to remember to "slow down and live." There is an advantage to the adage that "time is fleeting," Newman said. "If you do great, the moment is soon past and replaced with other thoughts in people's minds; however, the advantage to that is that if you do poorly, it is soon forgotten and forgiven."

Telling his listeners that "this is our moment in time," the graduating senior said, "Do not speculate too far ahead and don't worry about the past."

The son of Carroll and Judy Newman of Otway, Ohio, he received the B.B.A. degree from MSU summa cum laude. Earlier in the day, he received his commission in the Army Reserves as a second lieutenant.

Following the conferring of degrees, the new graduates were welcomed into the MSU Alumni Association by its president, Ted Coakley of Harrison, Ohio.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.----Ever wonder what it takes to create the multi-ton statues and interactive art pieces that decorate the grounds of many museums and college campuses?

Tom Sternal, chair of Morehead State University's Department of Art, can tell you, as creating these pieces is his specialty.

Working at his studio in Allentown, Pa., Sternal has created more than 100 of these monumental works, including 56 last year alone. His works are on display all over the Eastern United States, from Minnesota to Louisiana in the west and Florida to Connecticut in the east.

As to his motivation, Sternal is very definite.

"The act of putting together one of these pieces is the thrill," he said. It may be just a statement of that moment. Only time will tell if a piece is really good."

Most of Sternal's recent works are made out of stone, which is the main reason for the location of his studio. His Allentown plant provides resources not available at other locations.

"Allentown is the only place I could find with equipment large enough to handle the raw materials," he said. "Some of my works are as tall as 35 feet and weigh as much as 110,000 pounds. In fact, I don't consider a piece 'large' if I can move it by myself."

One of the toughest jobs, according to Sternal, is the acquisition of stone. To this end, he travels throughout Tennessee, Georgia, Pennsylvania and Vermont to purchase blocks of granite, marble and limestone.

His foremost concern is the administration of the art program at MSU. That is one of the reasons he endeavors to produce "meaningful" works of art.

"I am a university professor and administrator," he said. "I deal with both fine art and folk art collectors nearly every day. In order to stay credible in my field, I have to create."

Sternal is quick to use a local resource, MSU art students, who are hired frequently. They also get practical experience that is often hard to come by.

"Everybody wants to do big things," he stated. "But, you must learn to do it right to do it large. If you do it big and wrong, it falls on you."

Sternal
2-2-2-2-2

For artistic criticism, Sternal only has to check at home.

"My wife, Martha Enzmann, is my best critic," he said. "She is my best source of advice and supplies me with both positive and negative feedback. She is an artist herself, and has gotten into sculpture using non-traditional materials."

Once a piece of work is installed, the artist really has no say on how it is used or displayed, but most of Sternal's work is designed to be interactive.

"Many of the things I produce are large and make a statement," he explained. "And, most of my works include bench-like forms which people can use over the years to sit on and enjoy their surroundings. That is important to me."

With his duties at the University, Sternal has to make maximum use of weekends and campus holidays, traveling to his Allentown works as often as possible.

"Working with very large pieces in short bursts of time can take a toll on your body," he said. "Due to the size of the stone, your work must be done outside. When the temperature drops and your epoxy won't set up, your whole attitude can change and you often aren't as creative."

Although the majority of Sternal's work is done for universities and museums, several of his pieces will be on display June 2 through Sept. 2 at the Woodmere Museum in Philadelphia. This exhibition is a testimony to the artist's energy and imagination.

TECHNOLOGY AT WORK AT MSU

At Morehead State University's Derrickson Agricultural Complex, tobacco plants are being grown in the float bed system, a new option for producing transplants. The young seedlings are grown to transplanting size in styrofoam trays that float on a bed of water as shown by Eddie Lundergan, farm manager. Tobacco specialists predict that within five years all plants will be grown in this way, according to Lundergan who began using the float bed system last year. Lundergan said that he would be available to talk with any area tobacco growers and encouraged those interested to stop by the University Farm to see the system in progress.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University faculty member is one of 20 individuals nationwide invited to debate and discuss current Atlantic Alliance policy in Washington, Brussels and Naples, under a NATO-supported program.

Dr. Jack Bizzel, professor of government, will be a participant in the 1991 NATO Discussion Series scheduled June 24 to July 2. Sponsored by the Atlantic Council of the United States, meetings will be held at the headquarters of NATO, SHAPE and the European Community.

Topics for briefings and discussions include challenges ahead for the alliance, current NATO political issues, defense planning, arms control process and relations between the European Community and the United States.

While in Naples, he also will attend the 40th anniversary conference of the Allied Forces South.

Dr. Bizzel was appointed last fall by MSU President C. Nelson Grote as the University's academic associate to the Atlantic Council, which is a bi-partisan, nongovernmental, nonprofit, educational organization. The group works closely with other organizations in NATO countries and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

An MSU faculty member since 1966, Dr. Bizzel is recognized statewide as a leading authority on state and federal government and is best known for his studies urging a reduction in the number of counties in Kentucky and on lobbying in state government. He earned his Ph.D. degree from Southern Illinois University.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University is participating in an innovative statewide program aimed at combating drug abuse among Kentucky's young people.

This summer, the University will offer a 10-day Institute for Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention as part of a federally-funded program known as Safeguarding Kentucky Youth or SKY.

The institute is designed for public school teachers, guidance counselors, administrators, librarians, coaches and parent volunteers, according to Dr. Judy Oaks, MSU associate professor of health education, who is coordinating MSU's project.

"Drugs and other substance abuse among our youth is escalating daily," Dr. Oaks said. "It is imperative that we put in place strategies for our schools and homes to assist us in fighting this insidious threat to the well-being of our children."

Institute sessions will be conducted June 11-14, June 24-27 and July 2-3 in Laughlin Health Building from 10:10 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. each day. Among the topics to be covered are current trends in prevention, effective models for reducing drug problems, identifying and intervening with high risk youth, teaching life skills and evaluating school drug education programs.

A number of specialists in substance abuse prevention will speak at the sessions, including representatives from the state Department of Education Drug Abuse Prevention Program and the state's Substance Abuse Prevention and Intervention Program; two authors of nationally recognized drug abuse and prevention curriculums, and representatives from the Southeast Regional Center for Drug Free Schools.

The Institute will be free to participants, but it also can serve as part of a three-hour graduate course. Those wishing graduate credit will need to register for same and pay tuition fees. Enrollment in the institute may be accomplished by calling Dr. Oaks at (606) 986-7878 and leaving a request on the answering machine.

A cooperative effort by the state's seven regional universities, "SKY: A Program of Uniform and Coordinated Drug Abuse Education Training for School Personnel" is headquartered at Western Kentucky University.

In addition to the summer institute, the program proposal calls for development of a model drug prevention course on each of the participating campuses and inservice training for school personnel in the region served by those institutions.

"At Morehead State, we want to encourage interested parents as well as school personnel to take part in the summer institute," Dr. Oaks said. "It will take a united approach to remove this deadly problem from society."

MSU and the local advisory group for the project also will conduct a forum to obtain suggestions from the public to determine the extent of problems faced by school systems in Eastern Kentucky counties. The forum is scheduled for Wednesday, May 29, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in East Room A, Adron Doran University Center. There will be an hour break for lunch.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Tim Francis, Morehead State University senior from Bardstown, has been selected as the student representative on the University's Board of Regents for the 1991-92 fiscal year.

Francis, who received 71 percent of the votes cast, will assume the position on July 1.

As student regent, Francis will serve as the link between the students and the Board of Regents. "The contact I have had with students and administration during my three years of college will enable me to be more effective and better serve my constituency," he said.

Looking forward to the coming year, Francis predicts it will be different and challenging. In his new position, he will serve on the Presidential Search Committee for MSU's next president and already is a member of the Athletics Search Committee for the new head basketball coach.

He credits the experience of working with the Student Government Association for getting him elected. Involved in student activities since his freshman year, Francis served on the Programs, Reviewing and Senior of the Month committees and was the sophomore and junior representative for SGA. Currently he is chair of the Reviewing Committee which provides additional funding to student organizations for special projects.

A communications major, Francis held a co-op at WHAS-TV in Louisville and recently completed an internship with WMKY, MSU's public radio station, where he worked in promotion and sales.

Ron Mace, WKY's Promotion and Development director, spoke highly of his performance. "I found Tim to possess many qualities, both personally and professionally, which will not only be effective in this new role but will make him very marketable in the field of broadcast sales when he graduates," Mace said.

Son of Fred and Freda Francis, he is a member of Alpha Epsilon Rho national broadcasting society and Theta Chi fraternity and is the current president of the campus chapter of Kentucky Young Democrats.

A graduate of Bethlehem High School in Bardstown, he worked summers for the State Department of Labor during his junior and senior year.

Reflecting on the time spent at MSU, Francis discussed the increase in student population through the years and the issues which he will have to address in the coming year. "I want the students to help me so I can help them," he said. "I want to work for them and to do that I need input from them. I'm very glad to have this opportunity to serve."

Tim Francis, left, has been elected as the student member of Morehead State University's Board of Regents, beginning July 1. Crediting his win to his work on the Student Government Association, Francis continues to maintain a close contact with his constituency to keep abreast of the concerns of the student population. Heather Widener, MSU junior from Casstown, Ohio, is one of the more than 8,000 students enrolled at the University. Francis is the son of Fred and Freda Francis of Bardstown.

MSU SPRING COMMENCEMENT: A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, KY.--While graduation ceremonies are traditionally a family affair at Morehead State University, the 1991 Spring Commencement saw a record crowd of more than 5,000 on hand to share the joyous occasion.

Addressing those in attendance, MSU President C. Nelson Grote predicted that today's minorities will become the majority and graduates will be faced with an unparalleled level of cultural diversity.

He encouraged the degree candidates to adjust to the changing society. "Look for the likenesses, rather than the differences; but where there is difference, value it," he said.

In addition to conferring degrees on nearly 650 undergraduate and graduate students, the president also awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree on Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot of Morehead.

Cutlines:

- 1---More than 5,000 people, the largest crowd for graduation in the history of the school, attended the 1991 Spring Commencement ceremonies in MSU's Academic-Athletic Center.
- 2---A surgeon, ardent supporter of public education and community leader, honorary degree recipient Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot told those in attendance that "in honoring me, you honor the whole area."
- 3---MSU President C. Nelson Grote conferred degrees on more than 650 graduate and undergraduate students with more than 500 of those in attendance. Among those to cross the stage was Traci Fletcher of Mt. Sterling.
- 4---Emphasizing that this was their moment in time, student speaker Jeffrey D. Newman of Otway, Ohio, told his fellow classmates: "Do not speculate too far ahead and don't worry about the past." Newman graduated summa cum laude with a B.B.A. degree in finance and a minor in military science.
- 5---Students frequently use their mortar boards to deliver messages--such as special thanks to parents or Greek affiliations--but for Audrey Lear of Valley Station there is no doubt that she is ready for the work force. Lear received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The infrared photography of Eric Shindelbower, chief photographer at Morehead State University, will be on display in the Strider Gallery, Claypool-Young Art Building on the University campus, June 3-28.

The exhibit contains some 20 photographs of people, landscapes and scenes of events taken in Kentucky and Ohio. The gallery is open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Infrared pictures are taken with a specially sensitized film which was originally made for scientific and military purposes, according to Shindelbower. "Because it is sensitive to infrared radiation, it can record wave lengths outside the visible spectrum," he said.

"The pictures are more grainy and some indicate a 'dream-like' quality," he said, explaining that he became interested in the infrared process while in college and found himself pleased with the end results.

Shindelbower, who joined the MSU staff in 1990, has been involved in photography for many years. He has worked as a custom color printer for Stone Photography in Lexington and a staff photographer for the Richmond Register newspaper, a relationship he began as a free-lance photographer while in high school.

During his four years in the U.S. Army, Shindelbower continued taking photographs while stationed in Ft. Rucker, Ala., and Korea. While serving overseas, his job responsibilities included the training and supervision of three Army photographers in addition to classified projects and overseeing the photo lab.

He is a graduate of Ohio University where he received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in photography. He also attended Eastern Kentucky University.

Shindelbower is the son of Dan and Pauline Shindelbower of Richmond. He and his wife Suzanne reside in Morehead.

Also scheduled to be exhibited at MSU's Claypool-Young Art Building during the same time period is the "Local Visions" folk art traveling collection. These works of area folk artists will be on display in the main gallery, June 10-August 9. The gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

An opening reception will be held in the main gallery on Sunday, June 16, from 4 to 6 p.m. Strider Gallery also will be open at this time.

OBELISK GETS REPAIRS

The 80-foot black obelisk marking the east entrance to Morehead State University's campus recently underwent repairs to correct a slight lean at the top caused by high winds and other weather damage. Caulking the spire was Richard Brown, seated, carpenter with MSU's building maintenance staff, as Steve Leitz, preventive maintenance engineer in the Office of Physical Plant, watched. Located on the grounds of MSU's Laughlin Health Building, the obelisk was erected in 1967.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Rural living, a reflective yearning for the simpler life of yesteryear, and the Bible are the most common themes of folk artists in Northeastern Kentucky.

This is evident in the display scheduled for the main gallery in Morehead State University's Claypool-Young Art Building June 10 through Aug. 9. Entitled "Local Visions," the show with its more than 100 pieces make up a traveling folk art exhibition that features the works of 16 native Kentuckians.

A reception, which is free and open to the public, will be held on Sunday, June 16, from 4 to 6 p.m. in the main gallery. Regular gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

MSU's Folk Art Collection prepared the exhibition which has been displayed in the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee Art Museum, College of Design at Iowa State University at Ames and most recently at the Betty Rymer Gallery at the School of the Art Institute in Chicago, Ill. Other locations where the works will be displayed in the coming months are the Springfield (Ohio) Museum of Art and the Southern Ohio Museum and Cultural Center in Portsmouth.

The exhibition was partially sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Council with funds from the National Endowments of the Arts. The Illinois and Ohio Arts Councils partially funded the show in their states.

The 16 folk artists whose work comprise "Local Visions" are: Minnie and Garland Adkins, Leroy Lewis, Tim Lewis, Erma Lewis Jr., and Linvel and Lillian Barker, all of Isonville; Earnest Patton of Campton; Noah Kinney and the late Charley Kinney of Toller Hollow in Lewis County; Denzil Goodpaster of Ezel; Ronald and Jessie Cooper of Flemingsburg; Calvin Cooper of Wallingford; Hugo Sperger of Salyersville, and Carl McKenzie of Nada in Powell County.

In spite of the common roots, each of the artists bring a unique quality in their form of expression, said Adrian Swain, MSU folk art curator. "The exhibit is full of visual surprises and goes a long way toward dispelling stereotypical impressions that are often associated with the way rural people see life," he said.

The humorous references to sin in the furniture made by the Coopers, Goodpaster's walking sticks garnished with snakes and bathing beauties, and the biblical scenes duplicated on canvas by Sperger, which are included in the show, are all examples of this vision, Swain noted.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Bob Babbage, state auditor, will be the keynote speaker for the 51st session of Kentucky Boys' State which will be held at Morehead State University next week (June 2-7).

More than 300 high school seniors from across the state will participate in the program which is sponsored each year by the Kentucky American Legion. During the week, the youths will take part in mock government sessions designed to provide practical lessons in city and state government.

Babbage will address the first general session which is set for Sunday, June 2 at 7 p.m. in Fulbright Auditorium, Baird Music Hall. A former Boys Stater, Babbage won the democratic nomination for secretary of State during the primary election held earlier this week.

Morehead State University President C. Nelson Grote will welcome the group at the opening ceremonies Sunday at 4 p.m., also in Fulbright Auditorium.

Throughout the week, the Boys' State delegates will learn about the state's political system by developing their own two-party system and electing state and city officials; serving as legislators, and introducing, debating and enacting bills as in the Kentucky General Assembly.

Elected state officials, including governor and lieutenant governor, will be announced on Wednesday, June 6, and on Thursday they will travel to Frankfort to meet their real life counterparts. Wednesday's program will also include retired U.S. Army Col. Jerry Cecil of Hazel Green as a guest speaker. Cecil is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

A graduation awards ceremony will conclude the week's activities on Friday, June 7. U.S. Rep. Carroll Hubbard, 1st District of Kentucky, will be the keynote speaker for the luncheon, scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Appalachian experience will touch all ages, including children, during Morehead State University's 15th annual Appalachian Celebration, June 23-29.

The Celebration features a wide variety of events highlighting the traditions, heritage and crafts of the mountains.

Wednesday, June 26, will be a special day for children featuring several events, co-sponsored by the U.S. Forest Service. Rodburn Hollow Park will be the site for these events which will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Launching "children's day" will be a petting zoo activity from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. "The zoo will offer area youngsters an up-close opportunity to see and touch a variety of baby animals," said Evelyn Whitt, interpretive specialist with the forest service. "We will have all kinds of exciting experiences for them."

At 1 p.m., Scott Shupe of Natural History Education will present "Vanishing Species," a program featuring animals that are on the threatened and endangered species list. He will bring with him several animals whose injuries prevent them from living in the wild.

George Ella Lyon, an Appalachian author whose children's books include "Father Time and the Day Boxes," will be on hand at 2 p.m. to read to the children. Lyon also wrote such children's favorites as "A Regular Rolling Noah" and "Cecil's Story."

Lyon will read from her latest work, "The Outside In," a book about bugs, according to Donna Reynolds-Spangler, Appalachian Celebration coordinator.

"Our children's events are free and open to all ages. We want the children to learn about their environment and share these experiences with their parents," said Reynolds-Spangler.

Additional information on this event and others during the Celebration may be obtained by calling MSU's Regional Development Services weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at (606) 783-2077 or toll-free in Kentucky at 1-800-262-7474.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Hardwood log grading will be the topic of a weeklong short course offered under the auspices of Morehead State University, Rowan State Vocational Technical School and the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

The course will run Monday through Friday, June 10-15, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the vocational technical school with some hands-on training sessions to take place at a local sawmill.

The course will cover the basics of measurement and grading of hardwood logs as well as the relationship between hardwood log and lumber grades.

Registration will be conducted at the first class meeting. There will be a $30 fee for participants.

Additional information is available by calling Bob Bauer, MSU's woods technologist, at (606) 783-2023 or Rick Bradley at RSVTS, (606) 783-1538.

OH HAPPY DAY

Morehead State University's recent spring commencement was a happy day for nearly 650 undergraduate and graduate students who earned degrees. One of the many bright smiles was worn by Chris Hart of Corbin, at right, who received his B.B.A. degree that day. During his senior year, Hart served as Student Government Association president and student regent. Congratulating the new alumnus are his father, Duane Hart, who also serves on the Board of Regents, and MSU President C. Nelson Grote.

TODAY'S AND TOMORROW'S GRADUATES

Morehead State University considers commencement to be a family affair and the spring ceremony was no exception. Peggy Marie Williams Duff of Bonnyman kept her young son Derrik with her during the program. The young lad probably found his mom's mortar board more impressive than the B.S. degree she received. Duff was one of nearly 650 MSU graduate and undergraduate students who received degrees that day.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will re-dedicate the Roger W. Barbour Room, located on the fifth floor of Camden-Carroll Library, at 3 p.m. Wednesday, June 5, during a public reception.

The room, which opened in 1987, has been relocated and expanded to include new manuscripts and additional photographic materials donated by Dr. and Mrs. Barbour, as well as local history and genealogy materials.

Dr. Barbour, a Morehead native, taught at MSU in the late 1930s and early 1940s before joining the faculty at the University of Kentucky, where he retired as professor of zoology in 1985.

The Barbours' latest gift includes manuscripts and photographic illustrations of plants and animals from books he has authored or co-authored. Among these are "Amphibians and Reptiles of Kentucky," "Kentucky Birds," "A Checklist and Key to the Mammals of Kentucky," "The American Darters" with Robert Kuehne, "Wildflowers and Ferns of Kentucky" and "Trees and Shrubs of Kentucky with Mary Wharton, "Mammals of Kentucky" and "Bats of America" with Wayne Davis, and "Turtles of the World" and "Snakes of Eastern North America" with Carl Ernst.

Among the materials contributed earlier were a collection of early Morehead photographs, animals he preserved during his teaching days at MSU and memorabilia from a two-year stay in Indonesia.
